China Economic Information Wire Service

Abbreviated as CEI, China Economic Information Wire Service was launched in 1987 as China's first English-language real-time China-focused economic and investment information service.

It provides Internet- and satellite-based service that objectively reflects China's economy through news and data, and makes multiple-dimensional release of government policies and regulations, investment environment, foreign capital flow and the latest news about the progresses of the Belt and Road Initiative.

Daily releasing 30-50 pieces of news from Monday to Friday, the service has long been a gateway for foreign readers to get timely and thorough understanding about China's economic and industrial development and its Belt and Road construction.

Xinhua Silk Road Database

Xinhua Silk Road Database, available at www.xhsilkroad.com, comprises the Chinese Companies Inquiry System, China Listed Companies sub-database, and Economic Indicator sub-database, in addition to another two respectively storing news and research reports produced by Xinhua Silk Road Information service.

Chinese Companies Inquiry System

The “Chinese Companies Inquiry System” developed by Xinhua Silk Road covers basic information of more than 80 million Chinese enterprises, such as registered capital, corporate representative, shareholders, date of establishment, branches and investment conditions, etc.

Credit Report

Xinhua Silk Road provides four types of credit reports, including basic, standard, in-depth and customized credit reports, to form a multi-purpose and multi-level credit service system and adapt to diversified market demands.

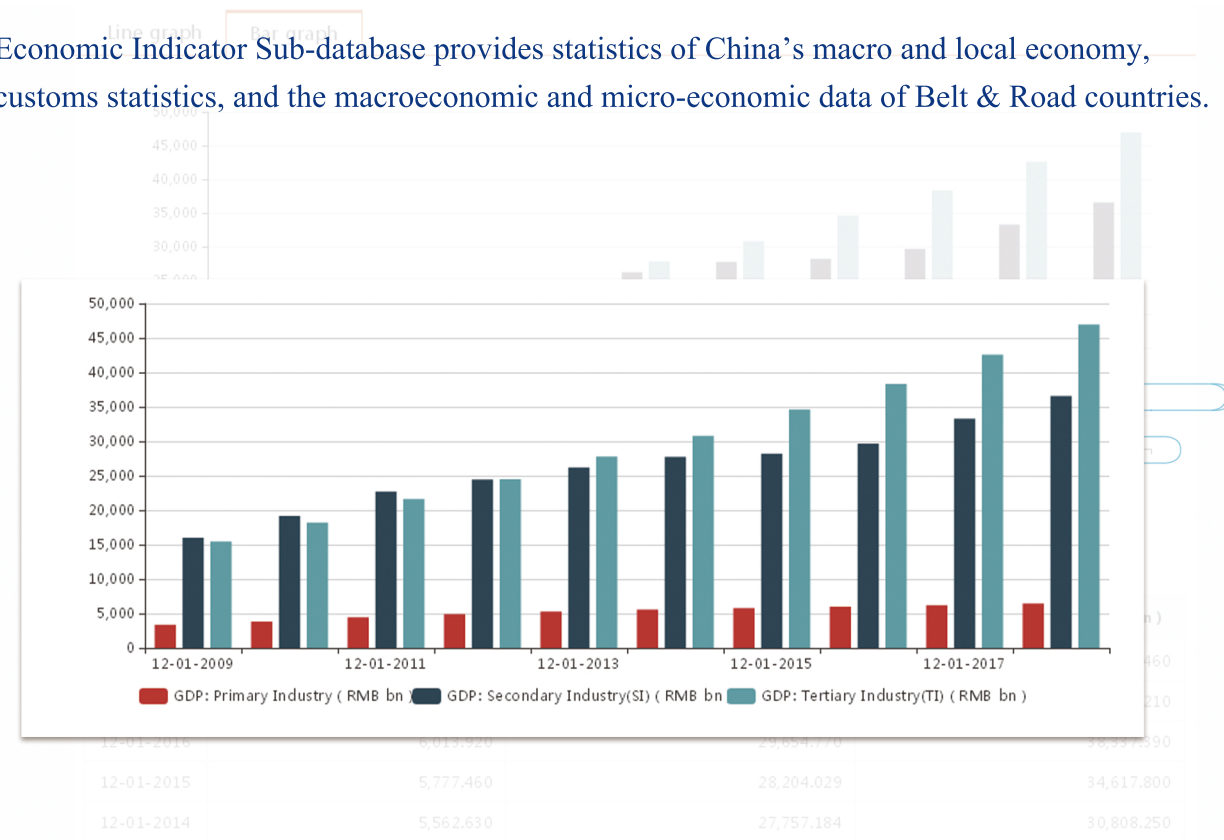

China Listed Company Sub-database

China Listed Company Sub-database provides brief introduction, performance forecast, and comprehensive financial indicators of the Chinese companies listed on Shanghai and Shenzhen stock exchanges.

Economic Indicator Sub-database

Economic Indicator Sub-database provides statistics of China's macro and local economy, customs statistics, and the macroeconomic and micro-economic data of Belt & Road countries.

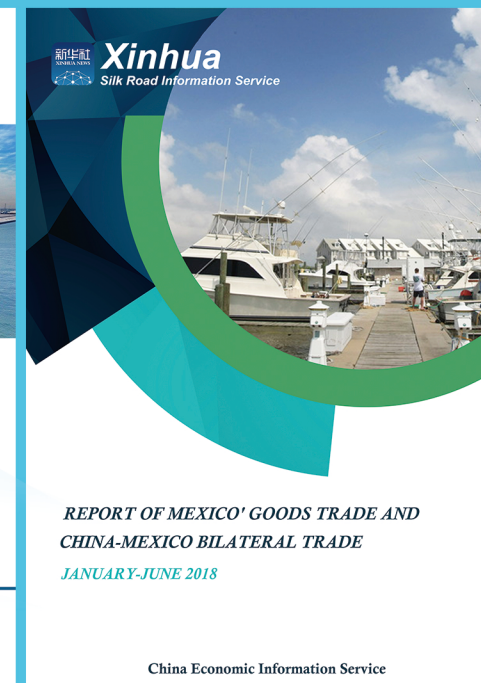

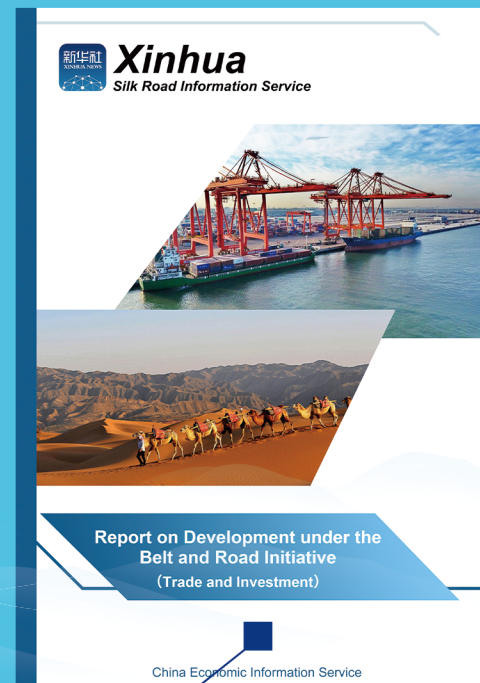

Research Report Sub-database

Xinhua Silk Road's research & consulting service focuses on studying and evaluating China's economy and business opportunities by region or by industry.

It regularly provides serial business environment and assessment reports of China and 31 provinces, municipalities and regions on the Chinese mainland, and serial reports of industry development in China. It also produces reports on the development of the Belt and Road construction and the Chinese companies and investors' overseas movements.

It can also produce customized reports in accordance with users' demands.

All the Research and Consulting reports are also available at the Xinhua Silk Road Database.

Business Environment & Assessment Report

It is a series of reports published by China Economic Information Service on the business environment of the 31 provincial-level regions on the Chinese mainland. The Report covers nearly 50 indicators in nine aspects ranging from macroeconomic development to investment policy settings. The Report also offers investors some practical advice on entering or expanding business in the province.

Updated annually, the report captures important dimensions of business climate by analyzing comprehensive quantitative data and tracking the changes of government policy. In doing so, we hope to provide an objective basis for understanding the business environment in the province.

Offline Service

In addition to online services, Xinhua Silk Road provides clients with customized offline services like holding conferences and seminars at home and abroad.

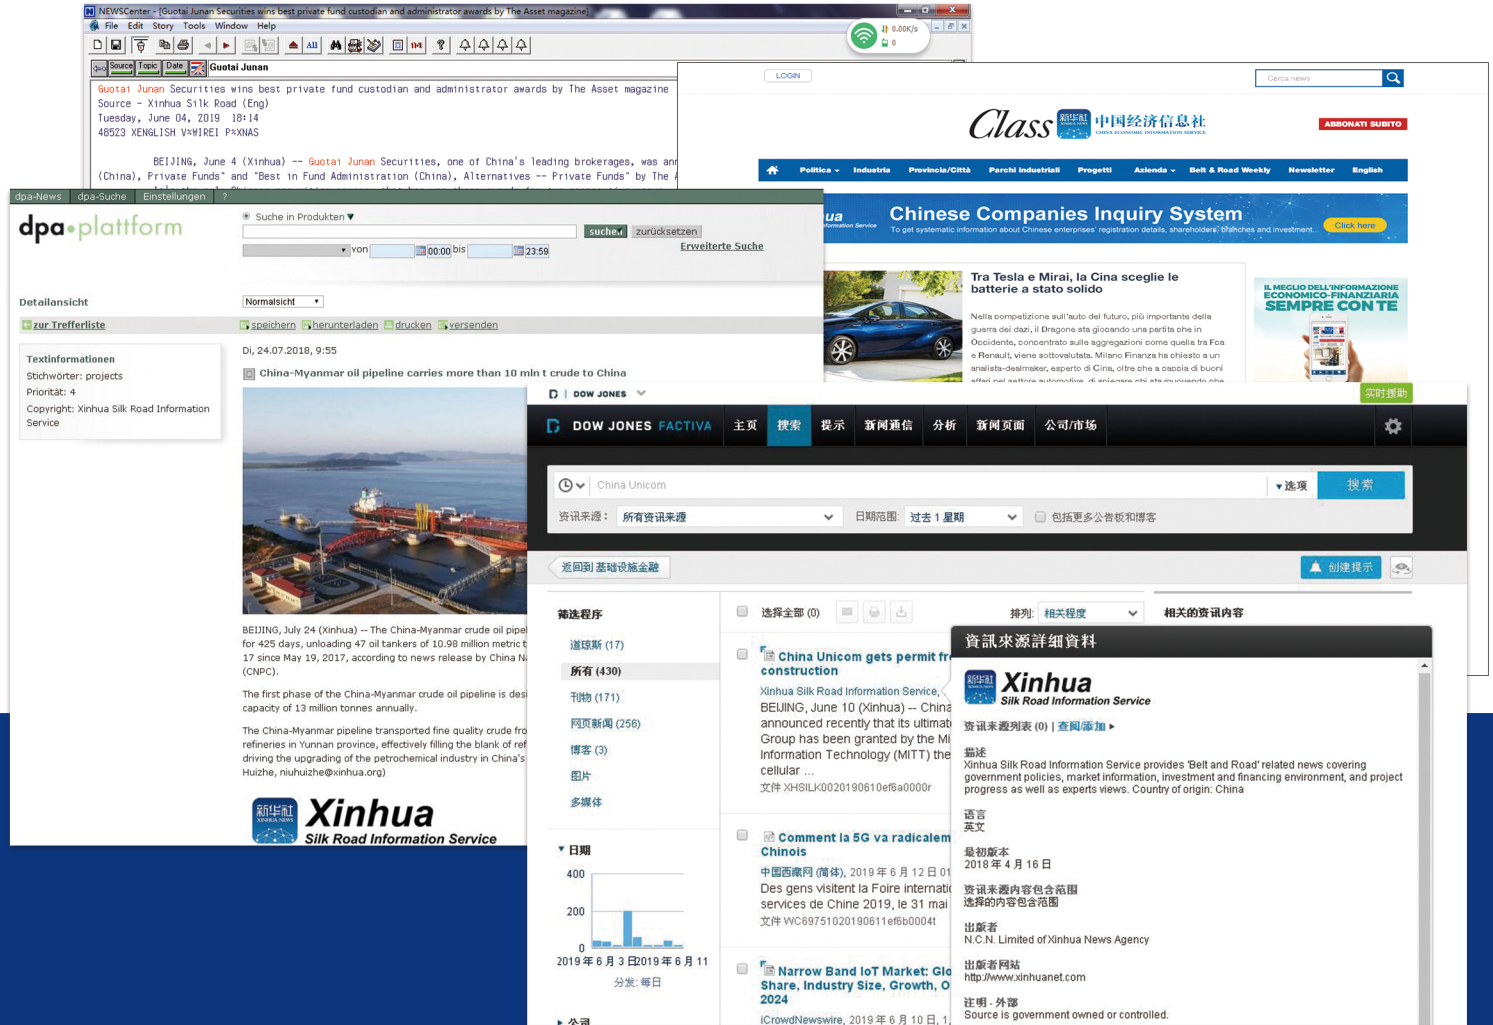

Xinhua Silk Road of China Economic Information Service (CEIS) cooperated with Thai-Chinese Chamber of Commerce (Thai CC) to jointly host a training program on May 10, 2018 to facilitate the Thai enterprises to make full use of the Chinese e-commerce platforms to enter the Chinese market.

Global Partners

Xinhua Silk Road has established strong partnerships with the economic information providers worldwide, such as DPA in Germany, Class Editori SpA in Italy, InfoQuest in Thailand, and also Dow Jones.

BRInfo

In order to facilitate information sharing and communication under the Belt & Road Economic Information Partnership (BREIP), Xinhua News Agency, the BREIP initiator, built OBORinfo into an advanced, applicable technological platform for information sharing, assisting information exchanges and business cooperation of the BREIP members. For the demands of Belt and Road participants, the BREIP members have shared information of BRI-related investment, trade, industry, project, brand, and research results.

About China Economic Information Service (CEIS)

China Economic Information Service (CEIS) is a specialized economic information service agency directly under Xinhua News Agency. As a pilot unit for national high-end think tank construction, it helps governmental departments, enterprises, and institutions gain first-hand information and insights into the law of market, seize upon industrial opportunities, and find investment value. Currently, CEIS is pooling together resources and strength to develop its four strategic products, seeking to further enhance the market competitiveness.

Xinhua Finance, a national financial information platform, provides financial information and trading tools to empower economic development and safeguard the security of national financial information. The platform also offers information, data, trading, publicity display, and other comprehensive financial information services in the forms of professional terminals, public terminals, mobile terminals, and data services.

Xinhua Silk Road, a national information service platform focusing on the Belt and Road Initiative, aims to meet the various needs of “going global” and “bringing in” in the development of the Belt and Road, offering online whole-process information consultancy and offline one-stop services for all parties.

Xinhua Credit, a national credit information platform, ranks among the first batch of national comprehensive credit service pilot agencies, and offers inquiring, publishing, consulting, think tank, and other services in enterprise, industrial and urban credit.

Xinhua Index engages in the compilation, publishing, operation and promotion of composite indexes, covering energy and chemical industry, agriculture, finance, culture & tourism, transportation, manufacturing, and other sectors.

At this point, CEIS has established a network spanning 180 countries and regions, and 30 provinces (autonomous regions and municipalities) in the Chinese mainland. It has trained 1,000-plus specialized, authoritative, pragmatic and accurate analysts with rich experience, and established close cooperation with national ministries and commissions, Party and government organizations, leading enterprises, industrial associations, and research institutes to complement each other's advantages.

CEIS now provides economic information services to over 58,000 users across 58 countries and regions. Shouldering the mission to develop information business and serve national strategies, it is working to safeguard national financial safety, promote the Belt and Road Initiative, co-build a social credit system, and lead the development of China's economic information development.
